Dinner & Tango Show at El Querandi The tango is the outstanding music of Buenos Aires. It originated in the 1880 ghettos which were populated by Italian and Spanish immigrants, Africans and gauchos. From this intersection rose the “Compraditos,” whose songs, lyrics, and dances reflect “el duelo de cuchilleros,” or knife fights characteristic of the social ambience. The tango rose from a mix of Cuban and Spanish rhythms. In spite of its humble origins in the ghettos and brothels, in the 1920’s, the tango rose to the salons of the upper classes. In 1920, this old colonial house was converted into the traditional bar, “El Querandi,” with its Art Deco façade, boiserie of dark wood and salmon coloured columns. It’s the ideal place for the tourist to enjoy an excellent dinner and a very traditional show.	Daily	Evening entertainment

Fiesta Gaucha at Estancia Santa Susana with Lunch

The estancia, owned by the Rossiter family since 1860, covers 1200 hectares mostly used for agriculture, and to a lesser extent for cattle and horse breeding. It consists of the main house and a series of sheds that function as dining room, bar and grill. The day starts with savouring meat empanadas and wine at the bar. Later, at the dining room taste an authentic barbecue followed by a folkloric dance and music show, a tango demonstration, and afterwards an exhibition of roping and ring games where gauchos display their horsemanship abilities. A snack is served in the evening, which includes meat and pastries.
