Cerf Island measures more than 1.5 km long (about 1 mile) and almost 1 km wide (almost $\frac{3}{4}$ of a mile), it reaches a height of 108 m (354 feet) and lies 3 km east of Mahé.

Cerf Island was named after the French frigate 'Le Cerf' who arrived at Port Victoria on 1 November 1756.

Due to Cerf Island's location, in the National Marine Park, the waters around Cerf Island prove a spectacular sight. The deepest point of the Marine Park is about 25 meters (75 feet) and the Park offers exceptional marine life, with more than 150 species of reef fish, crabs, sea urchins, starfish, octopus and many more.
